Insurance

Our events include public liability insurance. We strongly recommend that all participants take out travel insurance, with adequate cover for the events that they will be undertaking.

Safety

Some of the events we offer take place in a mountainous environment. Such activities carry with them an inherent risk. A proportion of this risk must be accepted by you. Our staff are trained for these activities and have first aid training suited to these remote areas. In the interests of safety you are expected to abide by the decisions and judgments of our staff.

We reserve the right to alter or cancel events, or select alternative walking routes, where we judge that the weather conditions may interfere with participants' safety. In addition, we may alter or cancel an event if you or a member of your party becomes injured, unwell or is unable to complete the event due to lack of fitness.

We will provide detailed advice, on request, on the most suitable clothing and equipment for your adventure. We reserve the right to refuse your participation in any activity for which you have unsuitable equipment, if we believe that it may compromise the safety of yourself or other participants. If you are asked to make alternative arrangements any costs incurred will be borne by you.

Health and fitness

If your fitness is not commensurate with the requirement for your challenge or event, we reserve the right to end the activity early and you will be required to make alternative arrangements at your own expense. You must certify that you are in good physical and mental health and able to take part in the event/challenge which you are subscribing to.

You must inform us of any medical condition, disability, injury or illness which you are suffering from, of any medication you are taking, or of any allergy which you have. We will provide a medical form which should be completed in full. Your disclosures will be handled in accordance with the Data Protection Act and only those event staff with a requirement to be aware of your responses will have access to the information.

Ascend Adventure reserves the right to reject any Client as a member of their trip at any time. Reasons for this may include, but are not exclusive to, illegal actions or foolish behaviour which endangers the Client, the guide or any other participants. In the event that Client behaviour becomes unacceptable at any point, you will be asked to make alternative arrangements at your own expense. In this event no refund will be made and Ascend Adventure will not accept any further liability or responsibility to the Client.
